LEIGHTON MOUNT FOUND DEAD

Court Permits Liquor on U. S. Ships at Sea

DRY LAW

GRATON WILCOX.
Washington, D. C., April 30.—[Special.]—The Supreme court of the United States by a 7 to 2 division today handed down a decision of far-reaching consequence and wide ramifications in the long controversy over extension of the American prohibition law to vessels at sea.

The principal points in the decision, Justice Sutherland and McReynolds dissenting, were:

American ships may carry liquor and sell it as a beverage to passengers beyond the three mile limit. Vessels not bring within the three mile limit, may be used as ship stores.

It is claimed that "prohibition follows the star," however maintained by the government, is not valid and must be backed up by a general law to make effective.

Supreme court opinion pointed out that no such law was passed by Congress at will, it prohibits foreign beverages on American vessels anywhere, any time.

On account of the new situation, according to experts, it is legalization of liquor on the New York coast and the Pan-American canal area.

Decision comes before the three mile limit.

Problem More Complicated.

The decision, instead of settling off the controversy, promises to intensify and complicate it. It opens up a prospect of involved diplomatic exchanges and bitter parliamentary battles.

As Justice Sutherland, a his dissenting opinion pointed out, majority decision threatens to lead to "international misunderstanding" and is likely to invite retaliatory measures by foreign nations. The state department probably will have a busyness of negotiating before the question is settled.

From a legislative viewpoint, the outlook is full of trouble. Although the decision upholds the ruling of Elmer Schlesinger of Chicago, fourty-one counsel of the shipping board, it shocks out in part the opinion of Attorney General Daugherty, the "we all is doubtful."

Drys Get a Law Back.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, has decided that a bill would be introduced in Congress to prohibit the sale of liquor in American ships everywhere his statement was echoed by Senator Borland (Rep., R. D. J.), leader of the bone-dry in the Senate.

A. E. Lanier, chairman of a shipping board, indicated tonight that as a matter of policy no attempt will be made to take advantage of a Supreme court's ruling in the dispensing of liquor on American vessels. He stated that orders to resume sale of liquor to passengers on American ships would not be issued without express instructions from President during the entire shipping board.

The majority decision, representing no opinions of Chief Justice Taft or of his colleagues, was read by Justice Devanter. Of the five justices Justice Sutherland read a brief statement giving his views, but Justice Brandeis merely recorded his dissent from Daugherty.

The case came to the Supreme court by a number of states, companies, American and foreign, and the decision of Federal Judge in New York, which upheld Attorney General Daugherty's ban on American ships and on foreign vessels, beyond the three mile limit.

British shipping interests, which was brought by the Union Pacific, which claimed it would prohibit them from opening ports where an American ship was out of the three mile zone, the foreign line's appeal was by the Cunard and Anchor lines, the Steam Navigation company, the International Navigation company, and several other lines.

AURORA LAWYER BELIEVED SLAIN; KIN OF LINCOLN

Missing, with Mur- der Signs in Home.

After beating the woods and underbrush of the Fox river valley all day, dragging the river and neighboring ponds, and pumping an irrigation well dry in a vain search for the body of Attorney Warren J. Lincoln, the Aurora and Chicago police became convinced last night they are confronted with one of the most bafflingly executed murders of recent years, or else are victim of a cleverly perpetrated fraud with $10,000 in insurance as the prize.

Lincoln, a distant relative of Abraham Lincoln, president of the 1916 graduating class of the Chicago Kent College of Law, brilliant student and poor business man turned floriculturist, disappeared from his bungalow on the outskirts of Aurora early yesterday under circumstances which lead authorities to believe he was dragged from his bed, carried into his nearby greenhouse and there clubbed to death with an Indian club he had used to drive flower stakes.

His Bungalow Ransacked.

The bungalow had been ransacked and a trail of the missing man's private letters and papers led for a quarter of a mile along a road to an old lined drainage well, thirty-five feet deep, from which his blood soaked night shirt and night cap and a stained woman's chancery glove were fished by the police. The plain imprint of a woman's foot was found deeply imbedded in a flower bed in the greenhouse near where the blood stained club was picked up and where a small spot of blood still dampened the earth.

Motives aplenty developed to bear out the murder theory, discrepancies in the stories of relatives and friends served to deepen the mystery, but at the end of the day's work the authorities were directing their energies toward locating three persons.

Estranged Wife Sought.

These persons are:

MRS. LIMA LINCOLN, estranged wife of the lawyer, who is accused of having attempted to poison him on several occasions and of threatening him with death if he attempted to divorce her.

BYRON SHOUP, her brother, who threatened to kill Lincoln and who disappeared after beating him up and locking him in a closet nearly three months ago.

"SANDY HAIR" STRANGER, who is alleged to have been lurking about the greenhouse for several days and who shadowed Lincoln when he came to Chicago last Friday.

DIVORCE.

Persons connected with the Blair Engineering company, 342 South Dearborn street, shot and killed South Sunday night in a room at the Atlantic hotel, which he had engaged under the name J. W. Harris. His body was found late last night.

The men, who gave the names of Harry Jones, 2515 Prairie avenue; Henry Bots, 105 South Ashland avenue, and John Danich, 2911 Cottage Grove avenue, driver of the car, are believed to have been implicated in the robbery of the Twin City Candy company on April 25 when $500 was obtained.

McLellan Young, secretary of the Blair Engineering company, 342 South Dearborn street, shot and killed South Sunday night in a room at the Atlantic hotel, which he had engaged under the name J. W. Harris. His body was found late last night.

NO ONE AT ADDRESS GIVEN.

At 7781 Sheridan road, the address given by Young, no one could be located after the suicide.

Persons connected with the Blair Engineering company were unable to explain Young's act. Thomas S. Blair Jr., president, returned to Chicago yesterday from Florida.

Young registered at the hotel Sunday afternoon. When maids tried to enter the room last evening, they found the door locked. They unlocked it with a passkey. The body, dressed as for sleep, lay on the bathroom floor.

At least on two occasions Mrs. Lincoln, it is alleged, had attempted to poison her husband, once when she put some powder on his meat when they were living in Wichita, Kas., in 1920, and once last January when he caught her dropping capsules into his coffee.

Her promotion proves that a career in the public service—the free exercise of the suffrage—is open to men and women on equal terms.

SENATOR MEDILL MCGOWERN, who reached Chicago during the day, went to the federal building to congratulate Mrs. Reinecke. He said:

"The Illinois senators have been very happy to join the President in nominating the first woman collector in the United States.

"Her promotion proves that a career in the public service—the free exercise of the suffrage—is open to men and women on equal terms."

BERLIN, April 30.—On the eve of the German reparations proposal to the allies the final draft of the note has not yet been commenced. The cabinet does not yet know whether it will offer 20,000,000,000 gold marks ($5,000,000,000) plus an undetermined sum to be settled by an international committee of experts, or whether to offer a fixed sum of from 30,000,000,000 to 35,000,000,000 gold marks ($7,500,000,000).

The information is prepared to yield $20,000,000,000 gold marks plus an undetermined sum met with intense opposition from German industrialists and Socialists alike, both of whom demand a definite offer of 30,000,000,000 gold marks. The German Socialists agreed to this sum with the French Socialists and the British Labor party.

Meet Party Leaders Today.

The cabinet will meet the party leaders tomorrow morning. The latter will probably demand some changes. The cabinet will meet the presidents of the various German states in the afternoon and the note will be sent on Wednesday.

FOLLOWED HAZING SENSATION.

Student hazings in Northwestern university added a shock to its annals last night when the skeleton of Leighton Mount, a youth who disappeared in September, 1921, was found embedded in the sand under an old breakwater at the foot of Lake street, Evanston.

Young Mount, a Northwestern freshman, vanished from his classes in the midst of a spirited controversy over the evils of hazing nearly two years ago. For months it was protested that he voluntarily was absent himself because of embarrassment arising from the indignities he had suffered at the hands of rival classes.

In the records of the cemeter in the hands of Superintendent man Vogt, there is included the information: Birth perm 1074; name, Harriet Hanna; reb. 2, 1909; remarks: Hid David; body removed to Canada.

Farther on in the book the gator found another record of permit 1074, but this time the name, "Name, Dollie Grey; Feb. 16, birthplace Canada. In another record was stat that name was "Alina Dollie Grey." The inconsistency of these led to the city clerk's office in Harbor, where the altered per found.

SCENE OF HAZINGS

Mount's remains were examined closely. The skeleton was found under the board surface of the breakwater about twenty-five feet from its end. A small round hole in the flooring of the breakwater was the one discernible sign by which the body of the student could have been pushed into the water below. Thus it was walled between planks of stone.

Suicide Theory Unlikely

The police and coroner's theory is that Mount's body must have been thrust into its unmarked grave by persons seeking to hide a possible crime or accident; or, if Mount's death was suicide, he must have lowered himself into this cave before taking his own life. That was not considered tenable.

It was necessary for the police to cut a hole fifteen feet from the breakwater's edge before the skeleton could be removed. This fact lent color to the theory that Mount's body was lifeless when it was thrust through the hole in the planking.

"There is no doubt about the identity of the remains," said Chief Inspector Mrs. Mount had identified a piece of the cloth shown her as a pair of the troopers worn by her son on the day he disappeared. He had dressed himself in old clothes, a coat and trousers that did not match, can was shoes and khaki shirt. He had dressed this way because he intended to take his life and make a double fight between the students on the campus that night. The rubber sole of one shoe was found near the remains."

Search for Mount's Associates

Investigation of Mount's student associates began shortly after the identification was accomplished. A search was started for J. Hallen Mills and Henry Hassell, both of whom had been heard to speak of having seen Mount the night before the time of his disappearance. Young Hassell when found denied he had seen Mount after the class fight.

While some of the police were inconsistent that Mount had been slain in a student battle, others were of the opinion that he might have taken his own life. This latest theory came from the coroner's office, which said to have been written by Mount shortly before his disappearance, to Miss Doris Fuchs, a young woman employed as a nurse girl in the home of John D. Galbraith at 228 Dempster street, Evanston. Mr. Galbraith now lives in Glenview.

Girl Tells of Note

"Miss Fuchs told me," said Mr. Galbraith last night, "that Mount had told her he proposed to end his life and do it in such a fashion that his body would never be found. I have not seen Miss Fuchs for a long time. She left my place soon after that time."

Norman Norse, a sophomore in the university and who lives in a fraternal house, told the police last night that he saw Mount at 2:30 a.m. on the night of his disappearance.

Says He Saw Mount

"The campus fight was over," he said, "and several of us were on the breakwater, talking and laughing over the night's adventures. It was between 2:30 and 4 o'clock when I saw Mount come down the breakwater. I could not be mistaken in the person. He was with us there for a while. I remember we had some more good natured kidding while we were there, but I don't recall anything more about Mount except that he was here. We went home. I didn't see him again."

Early in the evening President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university issued a statement in which he said that Mount was not a student regularly enrolled in the university at the time of his disappearance. Later in the night, however, President Scott said that Mount had been enrolled, but owing to his nonpayment of tuition, had temporarily lapsed in the relation of enrolled student.

Diligent Search

It was recalled last night that Pres ident Scott caused a diligent search to be made at the time of Mount's disappearance. A search also was conducted for the parents of the student by Attorney H. C. Burnham. No trace could be found subsequent to that date in 2:30 on the night of his disappearance.

J. L. Mount, father of the boy, was on his way to St. Louis on a business trip last night. He was notified on the train of the discovery. He wired that he would return immediately and asked that all possible attention be paid the investigation.

NEAR FATAL CRASH

The breakwater on which Mount's skeleton was found is near the scene of many Northwestern university class scrapes, the most recent of which terminated last Thursday night with the death of Louis Aubre, Northwestern freshman, who was in one of two student automobiles when they came together during the course of a racing stunt.

The fight Thursday night began within a few yards of the breakwater and continued northward to an automobile accident last Thursday, was taken to St. Ignatius' church, Loyola and Greenwood avenues, yesterday. Members of the student body and of the faculty had assembled at the church, which was completely filled by the Rev. Father Thomas Smith.

Several nights before the date of Mount's disappearance, Arthur P. Yerger, a sophomore at the university was found lashed to a breakwater piling off Calvary cemetery. He had been kidnapped from his quarters in the Sigma Nu house and taken to the breakwater by four freshmen, he said, who apparently had forgotten him. He was rescued as he was on the verge of drowning.

When parents of Mount reported later that their son had failed to return to his home, rumors became current that he had been seized by sophomores in reprisal for the Persinger incident. Although this theory was followed exhaustively for several days by university authorities, Evanson and Chief Leggett held a conference, at which the search was "a tempest in a teacup," and the university officials announced the excitement caused by the search was as "tempest in a tea cup." The search was as part of a ruse to leave home. Various reasons, including reports that his mother had refused to sanction his marriage with an Evanson girl, were given for the youth's desire to get away from Evanson.

Following the announcement of this incident, Mr. and Mrs. Mount, both bitterly criticized the university and city authorities for what they described as blundering cooperation in their search for their boy.

The situation, however, led to a call upon the student body to abandon class demonstrations, a request which was needed for a time but one which apparently has been completely forgotten since the opening of the university last September.

TWO BURIALS IN ONE CULT GRAVE WIDENS PROBE

Girl of 16 Placed in Same Tomb as Woman.

BY DONALD EWING.

[St. Joseph, Mich., April 30.—(Special)]—Another death mystery today was added to the list of alleged crimes to come before the one man grand jury inquiry into the House of David cult when investigators suddenly swept through Berrien county on a probe of a dozen of the half hundred deaths which have occurred among the supposedly immortal followers of "King" Benjamin Fornell.

Action on information uncovered by Sheriff George Bridgeman and Assistant Attorney General Homer Quay, the investigators turned to burial permit 1044 and through this blank learned that two women, one 61 and the other 24, were interred in the same grave under the same permit.

Other Deaths Are Suspicious.

Other deaths which already have the ominous finger of violence pointing in their direction will be looked into the next few days and the evidence placed before Judge Harry Dingeman, the one man grand jury.

A copy of the death records in the Berrien cult supplied the clew which brought out today's mystery. On the lists taken from available undertakers records were five deaths with the cause marked "natural." One record listed "Harriet Hanna alias Dollie Grey" as buried under permit 1074. The alias Dollie Grey" aroused suspicion at once.

But Harriet Hanna was not "alias Dollie Grey." Harriet Hanna, who was 61, died without medical attention apparently from pneumonia. Dollie Grey was a vivacious girl of 16 whose death cause is listed as "interstitial pneumonia."

A day of search through mystery records, some of them found buried in a nest in the corner of a township hall, brought the sensational revelation that Harriet Hanna and Dollie Grey were two identities; that the same permit, visibly altered to conceal the true age of girl and woman, was used for both; that both were interred in the same grave, albeit at different times; that the dead from an interstitial ailment and the old woman passed away unnoticed.

What Murky Records Say.

In the records of the cemetery, now in the hands of Superintendent Herman Vogt, there is listed the following information: Burial permit No. 1044, name, Harriet Hanna; buried, Nov. 5, 1909. Remarks: House of David; body removed to Canada, Feb. 14, 1909.

Further on in the book the investigation continues and another record of burial permit 1074 for this time is listed: Name, Dollie Grey; buried, Dec. 28, 1909; remarks, none.

In another record it was stated that Harriet was "alias Dollie Grey."

The inconsistency of these records led to the city clerk's office in Benton Harbor, where the altered permit was found.

The naked eye could discern that the permit 1074 had been made out for "Harriet Hanna," age 61, Chicago, date of death Jan. 2, 1909; date of burial Feb. 3; widow of children; cause of death, pneumonia.

Bone Grave Was Used.

And that over the penknife erasures had been written "Name, Dollie Grey, age 16, birthplace Canada, date of death Feb. 3, date of burial Feb. 20, cause, death, interstitial nephritis." Under the line "Cause of death" was written the one word, "Infective."

How the same grave lot was used for two women buried under one permit is one of the mysteries which the state will attempt to solve this week through calling of every witness with knowledge of the cases.

Ohio Suspect Released.

[Youngstown, O., April 30.—A man suspected of being "King" Benjamin Fornell, much sought leader of the secret, esoteric cult colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., was released from custody last night by Sheriff George Collier of Union county, who declared he was satisfied the man was not the cult head. Michigan authorities, the sheriff said, knew he was probably not Fornell.

USE MAILED FIST ON TURK, FRENCH ORDER TO ENVOY

Will Not Yield to Gain Peace, Paris Says.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, April 30.—Gen. Pelle, the French delegate to the near east peace conference, will entertain Ismet Pasha at lunch tomorrow at Lausanne, was instructed here tonight to let the Turks feel the mailed fist and the peace party ends with France the victim.

"A policy of peace only can be interpreted as weakness by the Turks," one of the highest officials of the foreign office told Tribune tonight. "France has not the slightest intention of yielding on any point in the Chester concessions or other economic differences with Angora. Gen. Pelle bears instructions to speak with downright frankness to the hawkish whole."

With two divisions of French colonials already ordered to reinforce France's army of 25,000 in Syria, Premier Pollicot took steps today to throw a much larger force into Asia if the Turkish movement continues acting.

French Send Cruiser.

The cruiser Lorraine, mounting twelve inch guns, will carry Gen. Weyland, the French commissioner to Syria to Alexandria Tuesday, and will remain at the port in case of future developments.

The French learn that three active divisions and one reserve division of the Turks, heavily provided with field artillery, are massed north of Nisibin, Ismet Pasha complained to Gen. Pelle that the French were arming the Armenians in Syria, who were raiding the Turks from points along the French deny the allegation, explaining that they were not responsible if the Armenians stole the weapons and arms to protect themselves.

From Germany it was announced that former German soldiers are seeking to enlist at the Turkish consulates in Munich and Nuremberg in the Kemal's army to fight the French, but the Ottoman authorities have declined to visa passports for them to proceed to the front.

Splitt Testifies on Day Before the Murder.

Splitt testified on the day before the murder that Schlosser he and Meisner wielded pistols by Hunter and told to use a saloon at 63rd street South main avenue and hold up the place.

"Hunter told us that he had given a diamond ring to the saloon-keeper in return a loan several days before," Splitt said in answer to questions put by Assistant State's Attorneys William Hart and Joseph Savage. "He said he wanted to get the pin back and we were to get it for him. We did."

"The following day Hunter told us to go out and rob whomever we saw on the road and meet him [Hunter] there to divide the loot. We saw a Yale cab and put the guns on the driver."

Helps Another Driver.

Meisner informed the driver to get out of the cab as he did another cab, drove away. It slowed up and I jumped on the running board and told the second car to drive to a nearby alley. I hopped up and took $25.

As I was going back to where I left Meisner, heard a shot and saw my companion running away. I went home, which was later arrested."

The state asking the death penalty in the case of Meisner and Hunter. Splitt will sentenced on his plea when the trial is over. The state expects just its case this morning.

ARRESTED

SAYS BLACK WAS ASKED FOR AID ON EVE OF MASSACRE

Witness Tells Committee of Plea for Troops.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Marion, Ill., April 30.—Special.]

At 3 p.m. yesterday Col. Sam N. Hunter, informed Adj't. Gen. Carlos E. Black from Marion that he thought troops were needed to stop the attack on the Southern Illinois Coal company property, according to testimony today by Charles R. Edrington, secretary of the Greater Marion association, before the special legislative committee.

At that time, according to other testimony, more were forming in several coal miners' towns and a battle was in progress.

An hour and a half later, it was testified by two national guard officers, Gen. Black had notified commanders of Company I and C L at Salem and Mount Vernon to be ready to mobilize at a minute's notice.

Period of Deadly Silence.

Then there came a period of silence. Testimony is still conflicting as to what stopped the troop movement, but the guard officers heard no more from Black until the massacre was accomplished.

The committee left for Springfield to continue hearings there next Tuesday afternoon.

One of the chief points in controversy, whether Col. Hunter stopped the mobilization of troops by telephoning Gen. Black at 11 o'clock on the night before the massacre, stating that his futile "truce" had been arranged, was settled over today.

Mr. Edrington was on the witness stand nearly all morning. He aided Colonel Hunter in organizing the citizens' association which attempted to settle the trouble. This was formed at noon, June 21, he said.

A rapid fire picture of his version of the events of the day follows:

12:30—Inquired for sheriff—not in town.

12:30—Report of ambuscade in truck where three non-union men were shot.

1 p.m.—Report of meeting of 1,000 men in Herrin cemetery.

1:20 p.m.—Report Herrin hardware store was looted and burned down.

1:30 p.m.—Colonel Hunter called Gen. Black telling him of all these things, and saying that the local authorities were not able to cope with situation.

Later in the afternoon these events followed, Edrington said:

Superintendent McDowell at the strip mine called Hunter and told him the mob had surrounded the mine, that 400 shots had been exchanged.

Moh Demanded Help.

Called Sheriff's office. Deputy S. E. Storme came to him, who told him of attack and asked him to get his force and go out to mine and stop riot. No record of what Storme said. From that time on there was no connection with the sheriff's office.

8 p.m.—Hunter called Black. Told of attack in mine and failure of sheriff. Told Black in his estimation troops would be necessary.

After that same raids on Marion hardware stores. A mob came to office where Hunter and Washington were and demanded rifles of Local police.

4:40 p.m.—Charles F. Herring, partner of W. J. Lester, got Lester on phone in Chicago and got his authority to quit the mine. Edrington called for Hughes of Herrin to be relieved and then gave the phone to Hunter.

Hunter told Hughes the mine would cease operations and would raise a white flag. Hughes was told to go out to the mine with union officials, display a white flag and perfect the truce for the night.

At that time, according to other testimony, more were forming in several coal miners' towns and a battle was in progress.

An hour and a half later, it was testified by two national guard officers, Gen. Black had notified commanders of Company I and C L at Salem and Mount Vernon to be ready to mobilize at a minute's notice.

5 p.m.—Tried to get connection with mine. Wires down.

6 p.m.—Hunter called Black again. At this time the mob had come to the door again demanding rifles. Across the square mob could be seen in front of Cox hardware store.

3 DRIFT 24 DAYS IN BOAT AFTER SCHOONER SINKS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

SYDNEY, April 30.—News reached Sydney today from three survivors of the schooner Amy Turner, which founderered near Guam on March 27 during a heavy gale, while bound from Australia to Manila with a cargo of coal.

The survivors drifted for twenty-four days in a small boat, finally landed on the east coast of Mindanao, Philippines Islands, exhausted and starving. They were given food, clothing, and shelter, and were transported to Cebu. Capt. N. E. Wilson, his wife, and nine other members of the crew, mostly Americans, are missing.

The vessel was formerly at the American Consulate and was sold at Melbourne to pay debts.

AURORA LAWYER, KIN OF LINCOLN, BELIEVED SLAIN

He's Missing, with Signs of Murder in Home.

thrashed him so roundly he was under a doctor's care.

Lincoln was in mortal fear of some enemy and continually kept a light burning in his bedroom as a signal to his son. The son, a boy of 16, had been seen in the old well Sunday night. Some saw a woman standing on the running board, while two men appeared to be inside. The Sheppard boy was last seen at 10 o'clock and again fifteen minutes later. A man was standing on the ground talking to someone in the car when they first passed. A woman was standing there when they returned.

Pump Well Dry.

In the belief the body might be hidden in the well Chief Michele summoned the fire department and had it pumped dry without result.

Sheriff W. E. Orr of Kane county notified of the disappearance of George, went the whole day with his deputies searching the underbrush and shore along the Fox river, scouring the woods, and fishing in the deeper parts of the stream.

The son broke down and wept as he told his story. The police expressed the belief he was telling the truth. His movements were changed since his story verified. He said he had gone out to see his father Sunday morning and had remained at the bungalow until his father caught a 1:30 train to Chicago to see John F. Beavo from whom he was going to purchase an ice box. His father returned at 8:10, he said, and announced he had made the purchase.

Fails to Appear.

But Beavo, who lives at 4111 North Springfield avenue, said Lincoln never appeared.

He was to have come but phoned early in the morning that his son was coming out and he would be unable to come. A woman was standing there when they returned.

What errand did Lincoln have to perform then on Sunday, the police wanted to know, which caused him to deceive his son? Where did he go?

Whom did he see? He could have seen his wife, Beavo said, "because I have reason to believe she is out on the coast. I had a letter from Lincoln on March 26. He borrowed $190 from me on a note. He said his wife had left him and taken all his money, everything he had. I had been planning to tell him that for years his wife had been having an undesirable relationship with an ex-sailor-keeper in Mount Pulaski, named Jenner. It was odd, too, that in his letter he enclosed a personal want ad from THE TRAILOR bearing out what I had heard."

Beavo exhibited the "personal." It read as follows:

"Geo. J.—I am in Seattle. Quit W. J. for keeps. Come, Lina L."

Meets His Fiancée.

The son said he left his father as the latter was waiting to go to a pic-nic show in Aurora at 4:30 Sunday night. John said he caught a train to Batavia, went riding with his fiancée and some friends, missed the last train to Chicago, spent the night in Geneva a hotel, and arrived in Chicago time to go to work at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This was corroborated by the young woman on whom he dined in Batavia, Miss Mary Collins, who told of the visit of two strange women to the Lincoln bungalow two weeks ago.

"John was late in coming to see me," she said, "and explained women had tried to force their way in to see his father and they had had considerable trouble getting rid of them."

Pressed for Money.

The theory that Lincoln may have staged evidences of a murder and then disappeared arose from a missing stock bill concerning his $100,000 insurance policies. He had been hard pressed for money. Beavo said he recently had had his policies changed so that his brother and not his son would be the beneficiary. The son said his stepmother was the beneficiary, but his father had spoken of having them transferred in his name, Edward, the brother, said he recently had the policies changed so that his estate would be the beneficiary.

"Do you think your brother could have framed this?" the brother was asked.

"Absolutely not," he replied. "My brother is dead. I'm sure his body will be found within the next few days."

WOMAN'S BARGAIN CRAZE SAME NOW AS 50 YEARS AGO

Days fifty years ago, when their store was one floor of a four story frame building; when calico sold at 2½ cents a yard; when there were no show windows and dress goods were hung from the windows to display them; were some of the things that old employees found to talk about yesterday during the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Boston Store.

"But there's one thing the same."

They chorused. "The women love a bargain today just as they did two generations ago. They were rougher then, that's all."

"That's right," said Marshall
Kenzie, for twenty-nine years an employee. "Many's the time in the old days that I've actually been knocked down by women seeking a bargain."

The Boston Store was started shortly after the Civil War by C. C. Netcher.
It was located on State street at the northeast corner of the present lot on which the half block building now stands.

"It is one of two great stores in America," said Henry G. Hart, general manager, "where 'buy for cash, sell for cash, and give bargains' has been the latest thing."

Though she still seeks just as good a bargain, the shopper of today has changed with the store, Mr. Hart declared. She is more demanding. She requires more and better service. She will not stand being jostled in the aisles as she used to. Above all, she is willing to sacrifice quality for style.
"It used to be, 'I want something good and substantial,'" said Mr. Hart.
"Today it is, 'Are you sure that's the latest thing?'"

LOVE NEST WITH TWO GIRLS GETS GARLAND AGAIN

Bourne's Bay, Mass., April 28.— [Special.]—The reconciliation between the eccentric Charles Garland and his wife, which took place last Saturday, terminated today, and the socialistic action of wealth has returned to his two young girl companions at North Carver, where the three have occupied the Garland shack for the past several weeks.

The wife, Mrs. Mary Wren Garland, has left the family mansion at Bourne and is one about the place, care to say who is the best girl.

Neighbors of the couple in Bourne believe that Garland was finally called a show down by his wife.

He was told firmly, it is believed, that he must choose between his wife and the girl at the love nest.

Charles chose, and, being what one terms a good sport, Mrs. Garland, after seeing that her husband was served with a hot breakfast, which included his favorite bacon, took the steering wheel of his automobile and drove her husband back to "April 28."

Mrs. Garland, when she drove her car up to the little dilapidated group of buildings in the Carver groves, steered through the brush and the mud into the front yard of the ancient hut.

As Garland alighted from the car,
his young girl companions, barefoot, hatless, and in light garb, pattered up to greet him. He gave every evidence of being glad to see them.

yesterday before the medical board of from unethical conduct to the offering of services to assassinate Dr. Charles

It is charged that Dr. Ramsey interfered in a case being attended by another vious way to the use of intoxicants in this country. It forbade export or beverage purposes elsewhere. Production can care for itself.

This discouraged production but that was forbidden already, the provision applied to liquors lawfully made. See Hamilton Kentucky Distilleries and Warrenton company, 2501 U. S. 146, 151.

It is obvious that those whose wishful opinions were embodied in the amendment meant to stop the whole mess. They did not want intoxicants in the United States and reasonably may have thought that they could be stopped by a law to stay out. Therefore, the amendment forbids importation into and exportation from the United States but portation within it, the natural meaning of the words expresses an almighty probable intent.

The prohibition act only fortifies in respect the interpretation of the amendment itself. The manufacture, sale and transportation of beer and wine for other than beverage purposes are provided for in the bill but there is no provision for transportation or carriage across the country without. When congress was about to permit such a transit for specific reasons, in the Canal Zone, it provided in express words. Title III, chapter 20, 41 stat. 322.

Ten Affirmed, Two Revised.

Our conclusion is that in the first ten—those involving foreign ships—decrees of dismissal were right should be affirmed, and in the remaining two—those involving domestic shipping—the decisions of the lower courts should be reversed with directions to enter more decrees refusing any as respects the operations of the lines within the territorial waters of the United States and awarding the sought as respects operations outside those waters.

DRYEST OF DRY AGENTS ORGANIZE FOR BIG DROUGHT

Dreaded Pennsy Plan Brought Here.

Advent of the "Pennsylvania system" of prohibition enforcement, the method through which western Pennsylvania is said to have been made the driest heavily populated area in the United States, is scheduled to come about in Chicago today, following a week of spirited housecleaning.

According to Acting Prohibition Director W. D. Moss, a clean up made of the national dry front, the executive departments will be placed in order in another week. Then Mr. Moss says, he and Chief Field Agent John E. Earley, will "get their heads together" in preparation for a gigantic enforcement drive.

Set Off in Order.

The trouble with many dry drives that have been conducted hitherto is that they become swamped in the maelstrom of mishandled prohibition detail," Director Moss said. "It is the policy of those in charge at present to see that everything is in shipshape in the previous exemption enjoyed by foreign lines has been an economic boon to them, as many "drys" as well as "wets" preferred to travel on wet ships.

May Fleet Warehouse.

It was half seriously suggested to-night that a floating warehouse be established at "tum row" off the Jersey Highlands, where an outgoing ship could take on its supplies for the eastward voyage. According to one official, serious consideration undoubtedly would be given to the alteration of ship routes eastward to permit a call at Halifax, which, if carried out, would add one more to the strip.

The foreign lines, it was said, were not so much concerned over the westward movement of their boats, as a skilled captain could figure out the amount of liquid necessary to supply the wants of the travelers up to the three mile limit. Foreign lines in the South American service could arrange to have the ships call at either Bermuda or Cristobal for liquor stores.

Owners in Quandary.

As the decision conflicts with laws of several foreign countries—Italy, for example—which require that seamen and ocean travelers be furnished with stipulated quantities of wine daily, local officials of a number of companies were in a quandary as to how to proceed while in port.

With two exceptions foreign lines refused to comment on the decision. At the French line, an official said: "We will wait until we get the text of the decision and then conform ourselves to the law."

The Holland-American line announced it "would obey the law."

The American Steamship Owners' Association held a special meeting. The association declined to make any statement.

While no official comment was forthcoming at the offices of the United Fruit line, the Munson line, the United American lines and the United States line, there were many unofficial expressions of joy. It was regarded as a definite victory for the "drys" as the American flag would resume the sale of liquor on their boats outside of the three mile limit just as soon as arrangements could be made to obtain supplies at nearby foreign ports.

4 MORE JURORS O.K'D BY STATE IN LUNDIN CASE

The tentative acceptance of another quartet of jurors for service in the trial of the $1,000,000 school bond issue against Fred Lundin and twenty-two associates yesterday added strength to the prediction by state and defense counsel alike that the jury would be completed this week.

Fixed opinions caused the excusal of four of the first steps in the installation of the Pennsylvania system was the assignment of John S. Pyle of Pittsburgh as judge of revocations, to succeed Horace C. Tuttle. Mr. Pyle formerly was United States district attorney for Utah and is said to have won high recognition from Washington and Pennsylvania and other districts where he has been assigned as a "wrecking crew" leader.

Brings Own Typist.

That the Pennsylvania system, the basic of which is the removal of political favors from the prohibition department, is to be employed in the utmost is indicated by the arrival of Miss Esther Rogers from Washington as acting as confidential secretary to Mr. Moss. Heretofore such places have been filled at the instance of local prohibition officials acting on the recommendations of political friends.

Former Judge Charles A. Williams who is said to have devised the legal plan through which the Gronlund and Ulrich $200,000 liquor liquidation was effected, yesterday entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Judge Wilkerson.

AN EPOCH OF AMERICANISM.

This morning twenty-five years ago an American squadron under Rear Admiral Dewey destroyed a Spanish squadron in the harbor of Manila and held that ancient city under his guns.

If epochs may be marked by single events, the battle of Manila was such an event. It is agreed that the war with Spain brought the United States more clearly into the world's view as a great power. If any one doubts that let him go back and read the opinions of solemn European experts as to the outcome of the war, which disclosed so little conception of the tremendous though largely latent power of the upstart Yankees and so much respect for the tradition of Spanish glory, now at last to be revealed as a melancholy ghost.

But if the war was something of a sharp hint to Europe, it was a real awakening for the American people, and especially in the seizure of an archipelago across the Pacific. With that event, not only European statesmen but American farmers and shopkeepers, workmen and clerks, began to think of America in a different way. It seemed to us that the republic was about to take another stride on the path of that "manifest destiny" which certain of our ardent historians and statesmen were fond of predicting. It was thrilling to think of our flag flying over conquered islands, half around the globe. We had just had a foretaste of that emotion when Hawaii had been added to American territory, and in consequence of the Philippines and of Porto Rico opened up inspiring vistas to the patriotic imagination.

Expansion, though a fact accomplished, as the diplomats say, nevertheless became a domestic issue. Mr. Bryan led his party in opposition to the retention of the Philippines, and a presidential campaign was somewhat halfheartedly carried on with this as the paramount issue. But the American people, voted not to lower the flag and the Supreme Court ratified the decision in effect by verifying our right to govern the islands as a colonial possession.

This brought the United States into Asiatic or far eastern politics, not merely as an interested and intrusive outsider, which we had been, at least since Perry opened Japan to the world, but as a possessor and ruler of oriental lands; a power with an important footing in the east and serious responsibilities there.

We cannot say that the Philippines became a very concrete or pressing concern with the average American, but it did semiconsciously enlarge his political horizon, and it did give him a new pride and sense of power as a citizen of the republic. As a result the American people entered a new mood. Just before the war we had fought a hard political battle to establish our currency on a basis of sound principle. The economic and social effect of that history was an immense solidifying and invigorating of American enterprise. The war with Spain broadened this sense of solidity and vital energy and the period which began then and closed, perhaps, we may say, with the great war, was one of the most remarkable in our history. At its close we were indeed a world power, a power so great as to hold the fate of the world in its mighty hand, and if we would fully appreciate that situation we must recall the spirit which sprang from the life of the '90s and filled America for a generation.

The typical leader of that inspiring period was Theodore Roosevelt, apostle of the strenuous life, preacher of righteousness and fearlessness, of forceful policy in international relations and the square deal in industry. Roosevelt interpreted in word and act the impulses and ideals of America during a generation. He was opposed by the pacifists, the radical, and the doctrinaire; by much the same people who today are preaching internationalism while opposing all measures to give us strength for the performance of our existing duties at home or abroad. But it was the virile philosophy of Roosevelt which the American people of his generation felt and followed, and it was the power of that spirit which made possible America's achievement in the world war, and which is the soul of our national strength today.

American national character is not averse from assuming responsibility, but American intelligence and common sense refuse to be fuddled by appeals to embark upon responsibilities which have little or no relation to our own well being. The American who was for keeping out of the Philippines and opposing the Platt amendment and for keeping the nation unprepared, on the theory that America cannot trust itself to be strong, is today preaching a sentimental internationalism which has nothing to do with the true American policy of clear and vigorous enforcement of our international interests.

The epoch following the Spanish war was inspired by an athletic nationalism, the ideals of which were justice within and without, and the manly development of our strength. It did not aspire to the moral monitorship of mankind. It did not fear its own prosperity and power.

It would do us good to revert to that day and that mood. We are invaded by a plague of alien issues and influences. We are vexed with a brood of vague doubts. We need a restored confidence in our traditions, our principles, our conscience and our intelligence. We need to purify ourselves of the poison which turns us against one another in industry, in politics, in international responsibilities. We are sickened with foreign diseases, and our health is in the air of our own Americanism. We need a rededication of ourselves to fundamental Americanism. We need to revive the inspiration of our common destiny, our confident unity and our devotion to those principles which have made and will keep us strong and free.

THE COURAGEOUS COURSE ON IMMIGRATION.

A recent speech by Secretary Davis advocating extension of authority to our consuls to pass upon the admissibility of immigrants indicates that our immigration problem is far from being settled. Constant efforts of large employers of labor, such as the United States Steel corporation, to obtain relaxation of present immigration restrictions, emphasizes this point from another angle.

There is something to be said on both sides of Secretary Davis' proposal. It would mean considerable expense to maintain bureaus in connection with all the consulates to pass upon the physical, mental, moral, and economic qualifications of all who would apply for admission. It would be difficult to keep the balance between various points of view from a foreign country so that the annual quota would remain strictly within the quota allowed that country. It would give unequal opportunity and temptation to graft. On the other hand it would save would-be immigrants the hardship and expense of a voyage to America, only to be turned back at Ellis Island. It would reduce domestic political intrigues to obtain the admission of the unfit, or of numbers in excess of the quotas. It would tend to eliminate tales of the breaking up of families at our doors, or similar piteous propaganda now so commonly used to weaken immigration restriction.

But why go at the problem of immigration in this roundabout way? The answer is easy—politics. Our politicians and statesmen fear to incur the hostility of their constituents of foreign extraction by advocating definite or complete restriction of immigration from specific countries, even though we know that the mass of immigration from certain countries is an almost unmixed evil. Broadly speaking, we are convinced that the mass of immigrants from eastern and southeastern Europe and Asia Minor do not readily accept American ways or American ideals. The great majority of them are petty traders, not productive workers. Their antecedents, training, and habits of thought and life unfit them to become the kind of citizens America needs. In the circumstances, why not them completely, and end the debate?

Immigration from China is barred by law. Immigration from Japan is strictly limited by the so-called "gentlemen's agreement." An honest and courageous facing of the facts would apply similar methods of exclusion to specifically named European and near eastern peoples.

ITALY'S STATE RAILWAYS
LESSON.

Advocates of government ownership and operation of railroads should find food for thought in Premier Mussolini's determination to lease the 18,000 miles of state owned railways in Italy to private capital. It would be difficult to find a more effective argument against government ownership and operation than the report on the Italian railways which has led to this decision.

Expansion, though a fact accomplished, as the diplomats say, nevertheless became a domestic issue.

Mr. Bryan led his party in opposition to the retention of the Philippines, and a presidential campaign was somewhat halfheartedly carried on with this as the paramount issue. But the American people, voted not to lower the flag and the Supreme Court ratified the decision in effect by verifying our right to govern the islands as a colonial possession.

This brought the United States into Asiatic or far eastern politics, not merely as an interested and intrusive outsider, which we had been, at least since Perry opened Japan to the world, but as a possessor and ruler of oriental lands; a power with an important footing in the east and serious responsibilities there.

Editorial of the Day

WHEN NEWSPAPERS ARE MUZZLED.

(Danville Commercial-News.)

It was 100 years ago that John Stuart Mill wrote:

"The time is to be hoped, is gone by when any defense would be necessary of the liberty of the press as one of the securities against corrupt or tyrannical government; yet we find ourselves today going to the highest court in the state to uphold that liberty.

Not one man in a hundred in Illinois realises the importance of the Supreme court decision holding that the city of Chicago had no cause for action in its suit against THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It is unbelievably, of course, that the decision could have been other than what it was, but the case is important when consideration is given to what a victory for Mayor Thompson and his associates would have meant. A decision for Thompson would have turned the clock of progress back about two centuries.

Newspapers belong to the people. Only through the press are the people able to keep in touch with their government. There is no other way for the three million people of the city of Chicago to learn what the men who represent them are doing.

The news columns of the Chicago papers are for the purpose of presenting to the people facts as the news gatherers are able to find them. The editorial columns of those newspapers are for the purpose of interpreting those facts, of stimulating the minds of the people, of helping them form opinions and reach conclusions for themselves.

The columns of the Chicago papers were open to Thompson and his associates. Replies to attacks upon the city government were as widely circulated as were the attacks. Thompson, it must be presumed, feared that the people were believing THE TAISMAN, that there would have been no reason for his effort to silence that paper through the courts.

Silencing the newspaper was the object in view. Let no one be deceived. Thompson was not so much interested in collecting $16,000,000 for the city of Chicago as he was in taking $10,000,000 away from THE TAISMAN, establishing a precedent that would give Spanish in effect power over the press.

A victory for Thompson in his suit against THE TAISMAN would have been an entering wedge for despotism. It would have been the beginning of the transformation of our public servants into rulers and our public into servants.

When newspapers are muzzled by law, then can the United States be delivered over unto thieves. Until that time the thieves must walk.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

SONG OF SORROW.

A voice not small, and not exactly still,
Urges this hand to what this spirit loathes:
Today I sing; tomorrow, willy-nill,
Your oration, perfume, his being clothes
In dark soft, and presently will go
Where the dark earth awaits his manly hand.

Alternative is none: the Missus wills it so;
I stand condemned to struggle with the land.

Peas—luscious peas; tomatoes, dusky gold;
Beets, beans, and all the goodly garden-stuff:

Would that a wish, repeated manifold,
Could bid ye forth! Then would I wish enough.

It may not be: in travail and in woe,
This back shall bend above a hateful spade.
The die is cast: the Missus wills it so.
Would that the Missus had remained a maid!

THE PRETENDER.

AFTER telling us, last Sunday, that "As You Like It" was imperfectly prepared, the cast weak, the playhouse too large, and the actors numbly, Burns Mantle submitted: "Which is no way to start a national theater that hopes to serve as a model for the country?" Then, Burns, what is the way to start? All national theaters start that way; so, all uplifts, betterments, corrections, restoratives, and what-not of the drama. True, when the theater is called Little, we do not often find the house too large; otherwise, the formula seems all right to us.

But why go at the problem of immigration in this roundabout way? The answer is easy—politics. Our politicians and statesmen fear to incur the hostility of their constituents of foreign extraction by advocating definite or complete restriction of immigration from specific countries, even though we know that the mass of immigration from certain countries is an almost unmixed evil.

WHAT we never weary of admiring in these national fuses with the drama is their passionate non-nationalism. Here the principal men are English actors; and the play, of course, has nothing to do with anything that is national to us. WHAT we never weary of admiring in these national fuses with the drama is their passionate non-nationalism. Here the principal men are English actors; and the play, of course, has nothing to do with anything that is national to us. This is the way to start a national theater that hopes to serve as a model for the country?" Then, Burns, what is the way to start? All national theaters start that way; so, all uplifts, betterments, corrections, restoratives, and what-not of the drama. True, when the theater is called Little, we do not often find the house too large; otherwise, the formula seems all right to us.

But why go at the problem of immigration in this roundabout way? The answer is easy—politics. Our politicians and statesmen fear to incur the hostility of their constituents of foreign extraction by advocating definite or complete restriction of immigration from specific countries, even though we know that the mass of immigration from certain countries is an almost unmixed evil.

Broadly speaking, we are convinced that the mass of immigrants from eastern and southeastern Europe and Asia Minor do not readily accept American ways or American ideals. The great majority of them are petty traders, not productive workers. Their antecedents, training, and habits of thought and life unfit them to become the kind of citizens America needs. In the circumstances, why not them completely, and end the debate?

Immigration from China is barred by law. Immigration from Japan is strictly limited by the so-called "gentlemen's agreement." An honest and courageous facing of the facts would apply similar methods of exclusion to specifically named European and near eastern peoples.

QUALITY SECRET OF DANISH RISE INCO-OPERATIVES

Societies Force a High Standard.

This is the third of a series of articles on the most advanced co-operative system of farming in the world. The Danish farmer gets 75 per cent of what the consumer pays for his product. In America the percentage is 32. Other articles will appear soon.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] [Copyright: 1923; By The Chicago Tribune.]

COPENHAGEN, April 30.—(Tribune Radio.)—The basis of the Danish co-operative movement—the union from which an immense marketing and purchasing organization has been built—was that the members themselves should govern the affairs of the society, and that they should jointly and individually be responsible for the liability that goods should be delivered to, and produce purchased from, the members at current market prices, and that the net surplus should be divided among the members according to the purchases and sales made.

The larger organizations, such as district associations and provincial unions, have a huge central cooperative committee, chiefly to control the organizations, which keeps up the standard of the small units in all things. They have nothing to say about the individual procedure of the societies as long as they meet their contracts for purchases and the products delivered by them conforms to the standard set by the laws of the nation.

Remain Strictly Neutral.

The Danish cooperative societies are, and have always been—safe for instance when they tried to seek a protective tariff as a farm block and met disaster. They do not take part as societies in political and religious movements. Every member has one vote in the affairs of the organization.

PRACTICALLY ALL THE SOCIETIES bind members to a legal contract to take all a definite portion of their produce and its standardization. By 1900 their efforts had proceeded so far that exporters of butter had arranged to mark all goods for foreign trade with one label, guaranteeing purchasers getting the butter that conformed in every way to the standard set by the cooperative societies.

Local Societies are Limited in Size by the purchase of a geographical location. Every society has its own board of directors, and in the local societies it has no executive authority, and works purely in an advisory capacity. The organization of the provincial societies is on the same basis.

Keep Up High Mark.

These two latter groups appoint testers who insist that a high standard be put out, and it has made a reputation which the Danish agricultural products have maintained. In addition, local societies often organize themselves into control societies, performing similar duties.

In the early days of the cooperatives they were chiefly concerned with building for a future. The production of cattle and hogs was for slaughtering purposes, and the live shipments greatly suffered during the period of the agri-cultural depression. With success in the cooperative dairy societies, the producers of hogs and cattle began to wake up to the possibilities of the movement, and in 1887 the first open-horned hog factory was opened.

Vested interests and the urban population fought the enterprise with tooth and nail, offering higher prices for the pigs than the cooperatives could afford to pay, spreading false rumors as to the condition of the bacon made in the cooperative factory, and otherwise trying to kill the infant industry. But it was of no avail. The movement gained root and was bound to grow.

Butter Makers Grow.

Meanwhile the butter makers, after the first few years, turned their attention to the improvement of their produce and its standardization. By 1900 their efforts had proceeded so far that exporters of butter had arranged to mark all goods for foreign trade with one label, guaranteeing purchasers getting the butter that conformed in every way to the standard set by the cooperative societies.

Miss Goldie Skolnik, private secretary to Edward J. Ader during the fraudulent $1,000,000 promotion of the Chicago Packing Company, yesterday surrendered to United States Marshal Robert R. Levy and last night began serving a term of six months in the Cook county jail.

Miss Skolnik lost her appeal to the United States Supreme court several months ago, but had been given an opportunity to dispose of two large millinery stores which she owned before beginning her term.

Ader, given six years and fined $10,000, following his conviction in the same case, now is in Leavenworth penitentiary.

LONG SMOLDERING FEUD BLAMED FOR REALTOR SLAYING

Hate, intensified by weeks of despondency and brooding, suddenly flared into a murderous attack by Charles H. Mullinix upon his brother-in-law, James E. Berry, last Sunday, as a result of which the former was shot to death, according to Dr. William A. Berry, who testified before a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon.

The inquest was adjourned until May 15, when Coroner Charles H. Atkinson of the Gresham police station reported that Berry, whose right arm was almost slashed off with the razor wielded by his brother-in-law, was recovering and would soon be able to relate his version of the affray.

Quarrel Over Business.

Reiterating the details contained in an earlier statement to the police,

Dr. Berry, a brother of the injured man, asserted the two men had quarreled over difficulties which arose in the realty business in which they were partners at 808 West 79th street. Mullinix, the doctor alleged, provoked a fight with Berry on Thursday and was wounded.

Called to dress wounds sustained by Mullinix in the first battle, Dr. Berry declares that he attempted to dissuade his brother from visiting the Mullinix apartment in the same building at 79th and South Aberdeen street.

"The next thing I knew there were a couple of shots," declared Dr. Berry.

Claims Self Defense.

Mullinix is said to have threatened to kill Berry at their last meeting, and although there were no threats to that fight, it is believed he advanced on his brother-in-law with the razor, forcing Berry to fire in self defense.

"It was me or him," Berry declared.

Mrs. Mary Olga Berry Mullinix, the widow, a sister of Dr. Berry, and her two children are expected to be witnesses at the resumed inquest.

Curl Hair This Way and Keep It Healthy

It has been found that the use of a harmless fluid, which dermatologists know as "Silmerine," will keep the straightest hair in curl for the longest time, giving it the appearance of true naturalness, besides keeping the hair softer and smoother than possible with the heated iron. This liquid should be applied with a brush before the hair is curled. A few ounces of liquid Silmerine last for months and as it is really beautiful to see the hair should be generally adopted by the fair and dark-haired women.

ACCUSES CARR OF MISHANDLING FUNDS OF COUNTY

Controller's Aid Declares Interest Is Lost.

Charges of appropriation of interest on public funds were aired before the board of county commissioners yesterday by Michael "Kali" O'Connor, deputy county controller, in a letter attacking County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr.

O'Connor declared the treasurer borrowed from local banks in anticipation of tax collection. The amounts, he asserted, exceeded the necessity by two or three times, and the unused money is deposited in the care of the bank from which it was borrowed. While the county is required to pay 5 to 6 per cent interest on the borrowed funds, the bank pays the county but 2½ to 3 per cent which net them 6 per cent income.

Deficit in Funds.

Only recently O'Connor charges Treasurer Carr was authorized to pay $450,000 in interest on tax anticipation warrants, and in a few days will take up warrants valued at $9,000,000, thereby creating a deficit of $3,900,000 in the county's funds. "To whom were the warrants sold and when?" asks the letter, which asserts that for a number of years names of warrant purchasers have been suppressed.

O'Connor's letter is categorically denied by County Clerk Robert M. Sweetser, Treasurer Carr, and Harold E. Foreman, president of the Foreman Bros. Banking company. O'Connor's immediate superior, William J. Graham, a brother-in-law of Mr. Carr, also disclaims responsibility for the statement.

Statement by Foreman.

"It is well known that the county treasurer receives bids from the various banks and Foreman Bros. Banking company stands in the same position with regard to the deposit of the county's funds in every bank in Chicago," declares Mr. Foreman, "and further, Foreman Bros. Banking company has never purchased any of the tax anticipation warrants."

"Nothing in O'Connor's statement is authorized by me," declared Mr. Sweetser. "I have reason to believe that there is personal animus behind it and I repudiate anything he says."

All of the county's tax anticipation warrants, according to Mr. Carr, have been sold to the Merchants Loan and Trust company and the Illinois Trust and Savings bank. The prevailing rate of interest has been 5 per cent, he asserts.

"The statement signed by Assistant Deputy Controller O'Connor that tax anticipation warrants were sold in excess of the needs of the county has no basis in fact," declared Mr. Carr.

WANT SAME TAX RATE

A city delegation went to Springfield last night to advocate a bill which will continue the temporary tax rate of $1.55 per $100 assessed valuation for municipal purposes. In the party are: R. L. Woodhull, chairman of the council finance committee; Louis E. Gosselin, deputy controller; Oscar Nelson, chairman of the council subcommittee on legislation; E. I. Frankhauser of the same committee, and John H. Lyle of the finance committee.

The permanent rate is $1.43 1/3, but three years ago the Thompson administration established a permanent rate of $1.45 for three years. The city council passed a resolution asking that that rate be continued for two or three years more.

The difference between the two rates is approximately $9,940,000, according to the city law department.

SMALL FACES A TEST IN VETO OF BRUNDAGE BILL

Springfield, Ill., April 30.—Gossep in legislative circles tonight centers on the impending veto of part of Attorney General Brundage's appropriation by Gov. Louis L. Conner. Consideration of the change of communications between the governor and the attorney general is on the tongue of every legislator.

Nearly everybody agrees that a veto of a large part of the appropriation may be expected.

Gov. Small had until next Monday to act on the bill. He is expected to take that long to go over his message to the city law department.

with his advisers and members of the legislature upon whom he relies to uphold his veto.

The governor's emissaries are going the limit to coax legislators into the administration fold and induce them to support the veto. Friends of the attorney general are asking their colleagues to stand on their own feet in defense of the vote they cast when they passed the bill originally.

A two-thirds vote is required to override a veto. That is thirty-four in the senate and 102 in the house. The Brundage bill, which originated in the house, received just 102 votes there, but many members were absent at the time. The bill received thirty-nine votes in the senate. In both houses the vote was unanimous.

Perhaps no other motor car is so universally respected by its owners for the generous measure of satisfaction it gives as Cadillac.

What few owners realize at the time of purchase is that this reputation has an additional and more tangible value than the proved performance of the car.

Hosts of instances come to our attention where Cadillac owners who previously drove other cars (many of lower initial cost) have found that they could have owned and driven Cadillacs for the same period with a much smaller expenditure.

They not only experienced the heavy loss due to depreciation of cars of lower resale value, but sacrificed the satisfaction derived from the ownership of a fine car.

METING THE GROWING NEEDS OF THE GREAT MIDDLE WEST

Chicago— a Growing Financial Power

THE days when every Mid-western enterprise turned to the East for financial support have long since written themselves into history.

Year by year—thrifitily, aggressively, foresightedly—the men and women of Chicago and the Middle West have built up their resources, gaining steadily a more complete financial independence.

Important houses of banking have developed to meet our growing needs, and today large undertakings are more and more frequently being financed entirely in the Middle West.

The Illinois Merchants Banks, with their national and international affiliations and their ability to handle transactions of a size unimaginable in the Middle West even twenty-five years ago, furnish the latest and perhaps most striking evidence of the continued growth of Chicago as a financial center.

No matter how splendid is the ship with its specially developed devices, it needs specially developed men. It is always the men who matter most, the men who really propel the Cunarder across the ocean and bring it back, smoothly, safely, on time.

Any Cunarder is a mechanical masterpiece whether it be the fleet Mauretania with its 125 furnaces and its electric plant large enough for a city of 100,000; or one of the new 20,000 tonners; or large one-class cabin ships. But the real pride of the Cunard is the intelligence, training and discipline of its men.

BANKRUPTCY RING LAWYERS, FACING JAIL, RETURN FEES

Attorneys members of a so-called "bankruptcy ring" operating in the Circuit court produced more than $3,000 yesterday when they were interrogated with jail sentences and possible disbarment by Judge Kickham Scanlan, directing a judicial inquiry into the affairs of Jacob Goldman, professional receiver for defunct con-cerner's secretary, Ryer stepped up to the bench asking that he be excused until needed.

Judge Threatens Lawyer.

"You have refused to return money advanced you by Goldman?" asked the judge.

"Yes," answered Ryer.

"You will return here Saturday morning with a bondsman prepared to post bonds of $2,500," snapped Judge

Scanlan. "Be prepared to go to jail for 100 days and pay a fine of $1.

We are going to treat all the lawyers alike, whether they regard themselves as servants of the court in this matter or not."

Judge Scanlan indicated that he would order the seizure of all of Goldman's records when promises given by the lawyer and Miss Page failed to produce records of importance. Multiplied ledgers and check stub books with numerous missing stubs were offered by Miss Page yesterday.

Stubs Torn Out.

"I will say this is some stub book,"

said Judge Scanlan, examining a book offered by Goldman. "I will put it up against any stub book in Chicago.

KING OF SPAIN RUNS FROM HOT PAN INTO FIRE

Finds Belgium Tied Up by Strikes.

Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BRUSSELS, April 30.—King Alfonso, departing from the expected Spanish May Day trouble, has had to find conditions just bad here when he arrives according to every indication tonight. The arrival of the Spanish king on his state visit may be seriously hampered by a railway strike which is threatened in sympathy with striking employees of the government post office and telegraph services.

Railway employees at Malines this morning walked out in sympathy with the postal workers. The telegraph station, now covers every center of Belgium except Brussels, while a walkout in other government owned utilities is now expected momentarily. Only the military controlled wires are working.

May day demonstrations have been forbidden here.

May Day Worries Rule.

Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
DUSSELDORF, April 30.—The population of the Ruhr is looking forward to May day with misgivings. The people here are not certain whether labor will go on strike with more or less peaceful demonstrations or whether the radical elements will become dominant, engaging in disturbances which will bring casualties.

The workers themselves assert that they are ready to demonstrate in nearly every city of the Ruhr and in those cities where unemployed were shot during strikes of coal miners there is likely to be a recurrence of trouble.

The French have issued revolvers to the fire department at Witten, where 15,000 persons are to demonstrate.

Forty thousand persons are billed to turn out in the hard boiled city of Bochum, but they will hardly be so indiscreet as to turn the occasion into an anti-French affair, for there are thirty tanks in perfect running order behind the French barracks.

France Expects Quiet Day.

Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
PARIS, April 30.—All strikes were today declared by the French mining, metallurgical, textile and other industries, while Paris traffic will be held up for ten minutes. The industrial situation does not seem grave, since most of the unions have refused to accept the Moscow International's order for a general strike. The Paris and other city garrisons were under mobilization orders.

Half Work in Mexico.

Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
MEXICO CITY, April 30.—Under the leadership of Ricardo Flores Magon who was recently expelled from the United States labor organizations, here descended a general suspension of work throughout Mexico on May Day. The decree includes street cars, buses, cable newspapers, theaters, moving pictures, bakers, and practically every industry. The government is closely watching the movements of the rods, who will hold an all day rally tomorrow.

An American girl with an English Complexion

Her name is Martha Ryerson; her home, Chicago. But her fame is international—as the girl with the world's most beautiful complexion.

Artists, photographers, stage and movie directors have acclaimed Miss Ryerson's complexion flawless, in color, texture and clarity.

Her skin is typically English—with the utmost purity one sometimes observes among the pretty country girls of southern Wales.

And there, indeed, is the source of Miss Ryerson's matchless complexion.

While touring Wales with her father, she discovered the magic skin-healing and cleansing potency of a rich gray clay scooped from the river banks in the Welsh Highlands.

Her father brought this clay to America—and compounded it into a delightful clay-smelling and face-paste, called Terra-Derma-Lax (Earth Skin Lotion).

Twice each week, Miss Ryerson covers her face with a mask of this remarkable English clay. In forty minutes, when the clay is wiped away, her face is as clean as a babe's—with every speck of dirt evacuated from the pores—and the cuticle as smooth and pure as Jersey cream.

Wrinkles, crow's-feet, blackheads, pimples, vanish under the sorcery of this strange and delightful product of Mother Earth. English mothers shrink to normal invisibility, and the skin is bleached to a lovely milk-white.

Terra-Derma-Lax is today available in 29,000 drug and department stores at $1. An imported clay vastly superior to any of the many domestic substitutes—at no increase in cost. There's a sister product called "Terra-Derma Creme" (an English Cold Cream) which is excellent as a daily cleanser to supplement the semimonthly use of Terra-Derma-Lax, also $1 a jar.

JIM LARKIN BACK

Crowds Greet Labor
Chief Freed by U. S.

BY THOMAS RYAN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

DUBLIN, April 30.—The arrival of Jim Larkin, Irish labor leader, who was recently released from New York penitentiary, brought a new dynamic element into the Irish situation today.

Three hours after landing at Kingstown, Jim was the subject of a great demonstration by a cheering crowd.

According to a republican army order, hostilities ceased just five and a half hours before Jim stepped on to the Kingstown pier. Nevertheless,

Larkin, who has aged visibly since his departure eight years ago, was forced to undergo a careful scrutiny by soldiers. As the soldiers said, "Pass on sir," a little knot of transport workers from Jim's old union shouted:

"Welcome home, Jim."

An extraordinary scene followed when Free State soldiers, porters, conductors, engineers and hotel runners gathered around Larkin and wrung his hand.

"God bless the moment he landed," an old man said weeping.

News Now Labor Struggle.

Officials of the government were glad to note that his appearance will start a new struggle with the present labor leaders who are working in the Dail.

Larkin headed a band of admirers in walking through the rain in the streets of Kingstown with his son Peter, who met him in England. Reporters were maneuvered into following Larkin into a hall and then they were locked in while Jim went into conference with members of his old union.

When Larkin arrived in Dublin, the slums and factories disgorged thousands to see Jim. In the procession greeting him were seen two red flags. Jim rode in a cab drawn by a decrepit horse, and the crowd shortly uncoupled the horse and hitched itself to the conveyance. He was greeted by crowds all along the way.

Still a Revolutionary.

In a speech at Liberty Hall he left no doubt as to his position which he refused to explain in England. Although he denounced the civil war, he said he was revolutionary.

"We still have our dreams," Larkin said. "We will continue to fight for our old principles, although it may cost the life of every man in Ireland. I wanted them out. I forced the empire of the west to deport me.

"Once I was ejected from the dominions of the king who now rules Great

BRUNDAGE JOINS IN FIGHT AGAINST BRANCH BANKING

Attorney Generals of Ten States Oppose Plan.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
Attorney generals of ten states, headed by Attorney General Brundage of Illinois, projected themselves yesterday into the controversy over branch banking which for the last year has been one of the financial and political crises. As "friends of the court," they filed in the United States Supreme Court at Washington an application for leave to file suggestions, brief, and argument in the pending case between the state of Missouri and the First National Bank of St. Louis. The dispute grew out of the opening of a branch bank by this establishment last June, although the Missouri law prohibits branch banking.

Opposition is held up as an obstacle in the argument against branch banking in the argument filed by the ten attorney generals. In Canada there are only seven banks, but these have 4,861 branches.

Money Power to Cities.

It has long been pointed out that the branches concentrate on deposits, while loans generally have to be passed upon from the head offices, the result being a piling up of the money power in Toronto, Quebec, and Montreal. Many farmers in the western provinces come across the border to seek credits in the United States. The ten attorney generals argue that the branch system is one chief factor in retarding Canadian development.

Besides Mr. Brundage, the attorneys general filing the argument are Frank E. Healy of Connecticut, George F. Nichols of North Dakota, John H. Dunham of Washington, Herman L. Ehren of Wisconsin, Ben J. Gibson of Iowa, J. S. Utley of Arkansas, Clifford L. Hilton of Texas, W. C. McLean of Indiana, and C. B. Griffith of the District of Columbia. The brief was filed by William Rothmann of the legal staff of the United States Bankers' Association Opposed to Branch Banking, which has headquarters in Chicago, its president being William J. Rathje, head of the Mid-City Trust and Savings Bank.

Business Banker's Points.

The brief discusses the point raised by many financiers that branch banks should be permitted in the town where the parent bank is located. In several large cities this is reported to have worked out well. The brief maintains that such branches, however, might serve as an opening wedge that would result in monopoly and destruction of the independent banking system.

"Gradually," it says, "branch banking would be extended beyond the limits of cities and reach into neighboring cities and presently become statewide and ultimately nation-wide. The bank which finds it profitable to maintain branches in its own city would naturally like to increase that profit by establishing as many branches as possible, and ultimately we would have the Canadian system, in all its vicious comprehensiveness."

The argument contends that the national banking act itself gives no authority to establish branches, at least in those states whose laws do not permit branch banking. Of the forty-eight states sixteen prohibit branch banking, seventeen permit it by law, fifteen have no specific provision. It is permitted in some form in twenty-one states and is not permitted in twenty-seven. The controversy, which has grown out of a change of policy of the office of controller of the currency, is expected to throw the issue into the next session of congress.

GOV. J. A. PREUS MEETS BODY OF SENATOR NELSON

Judge Bernard Barnes decided yesterday that the five painful days Miss Olive Clem, 7255 Cottage Grove Avenue, had spent in the county hospital had been enough punishment for her and dismissed the charges of larceny against her. Miss Clem had swallowed a diamond ring last Wednesday after an alleged attempt to steal it from a jeweler's store. The ring was recovered from her three days later at the county hospital.

Avoid the Dangers of Hasty Meals

Modern physicians trace about 90% of human ills to digestive troubles.

HASTILY eaten meals are one source of danger. To avoid them make a practice of taking chocolate malted milk instead of heavier food, when you have to eat in a hurry.

Borden's new Chocolate flavor Malted Milk makes this easy. For the chocolate flavor is already mixed with the malted milk. All you have to do is mix the powder with milk and serve.

Chocolate malted milk is a delightful drink, containing vital food elements. It is so easily digested that it can be readily absorbed by the system in less time and with less tax than it takes to absorb ordinary solid food.

This is the same kind of malted milk that you get at the soda fountain—made by the very same company.

BY FRANK SMITH.

The Jack Dempsey-Tommy Gibbons fight on July 4 at Shelby, Mont., for the heavyweight championship of the world is on!

BUT — Jack Kearns in a telephone conversation with New York last night said he would have nothing definite to say regarding the match until Wednesday. The announcement that the battle was a cinch was made by Eddie Molumby, prime mover in the promotional scheme to put the big boys in the ring and Shelby, Mont., on the map.

Molumby, who is state commander of the Montana American Legion, declared here that an agreement was reached after a long conference over the telephone with Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, who is in New York.

From here it looks as if the match wasn't any nearer completion than when Kearns was in Chicago last week, but it seems, according to the Molumby, that he has good reason to let the promoters know on Monday whether or not the match was on. Molumby in his announcement declared that everything was all set except the actual signing of the papers. That was an it was several days ago.

Sign Wednesday or Thursday.

However, Molumby stated that articles of agreement will be signed on Wednesday or Thursday either in New York or Chicago, and said that Kearns will drift in later to conclude formalities, and that if Kearns refused to come he would speed eastward in his私人 airplane.

Nothing new regarding the purse and demands made by Kearns was divulged by Molumby, but according to him the stipend paid out for the champion will be given $100,000—$100,000—$100,000—the minute he signs articles. At that time it was intimated that Kearns had agreed to a plan for a guarantee for Dempsey with a percentage privilege.

An Announcement.

The Molumby announcement follows:

"Dick Ringling, talking over the phone from New York today, made arrangements to singe the world's greatest rodeo in connection with the Jack Dempsey-Tommy Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., on July 4. THE FIGHT IS NOW A CERTAINTY! All of those interested, including Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, admitted that.

"Ringling has a great ranch in that section of the country, and each year puts on the largest collection of roping, horse riding, and steer throwing events."

"Ringling is a partner of Loy Molumby, former pilot in the U. S. air service, and attorney of Great Falls, Mont., who is leading the promotion for the fight."

All Settled, but—

"Kearns has accepted all financial arrangements, and he has engaged the Collins, who is interested in the promotional end of the battle) to help him in his two-hour conversation with Kearns in New York over the phone this [Monday] afternoon. The money end of it has been settled. The fight now hinges on a referee. A list of fifteen of the most prominent referees in the country has been submitted to Kearns and to Eddie Martin, manager of Gibbons."

"All of the ring sides agree as an ad for the Ringling rodeo, but the referee has not been picked nor have the articles been signed. We're hoping this will be settled eventually, for the bout should be a corking affair."

If the two maulers meet on July 4, it will be just two years and two days since Dempsey defended his crown. The champion's fiasco still is fresh in the minds of the fans.

WHAT KEARNS SAID

New York, April 30.—[Special.] Efforts to reach Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, tonight were unsuccessful. In discussing the match this afternoon, Kearns asserted he had not yet completed arrangements for Dempsey's end of the bout, but he had intended to communicate with the Shelby promoters over the long distance telephone to Chicago. The champion's manager stated further that he expected to have a definite announcement of the match to make tomorrow.

Memphis, Tenn., April 30.—Perry E. Moore, older brother of Pal Moore, a local boxer, is in jail here charged with shooting with intent to kill, and Russell D. Mrs. Moore, who was with Newell at the time of the shooting, accompanied the wounded man to the hospital.

SCHLAIFER CONFIDENT HE'LL DEFEAT WALKER

RAY FLIRTING WITH NEWARK A. C.; RUNS IN JERSEY JUNE 16

NEW YORK, April 30.—[Sporting Editor of The Chicago Tribune.] — Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, accompanied by his trainer and myself, his manager, will arrive in Chicago Wednesday morning and will work at the Arctic gymnasium. In the afternoon, Walker is in the best shape of his career and from what I hear of Morris Schlaifer's slugging ability the fans should see a thrilling contest.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Morris Schlaifer of Omaha, generally rated one of the hardest hitting 145 pounders in the middle west, arrived in Chicago yesterday to resume training for his ten round clash with Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., world's welter-weight champion, at Dexter Park pavilion Thursday night. He was accompanied by Manager Pat Boyle and is training at Ferrett's gym on Madison street.

If confidence means anything, Schlaifer already has won the bout.

The Omaha battler has met such clever boxers as Billy Wells and Dave shade and has no fear of the champion. He is confident Walker cannot hit hard enough to even slow him up. The fans should see a thrilling contest.

BY RAY FLIRTING WITH NEWARK A. C.; RUNS IN JERSEY JUNE 16

New Orleans, La., April 30.—Tom Gibbons scored a technical knockout in the tenth round of a scheduled fifteen round bout here tonight with "Chuck" Wiggin of Indianapolis. Just after Wiggin had staggered up from his third knockdown of the round a towel was thrown in front of his corner and the referee stepped between the fighters and stopped the bout.

In another bout, Charley Cutler, local heavyweight, and Charley Hansen, both of whom were unknockable, fought six times during the bout, once in the fifth round, and again in the sixth, again in the seventh, and three times in the tenth. Wiggin suffered a broken rib in the fifth round.

Gibbons weighed 172 pounds and Wiggin 178.

The bout drew one of the largest crowds that has witnessed a fight here in years. Thousands were turned away.

POGGI TO SHOW "GIANT SWING"

Nazareno Poggia, another Italian who disputes the claims of George Calza and Renato Gardini to the heavyweight championship, will take on the mainland, and will take with him Sal Clapin in the main event of the wrestling show at Italian hall, North Clark and Erie streets, tonight. They will wrestle to a finish, best two in three falls.

Poggia is so powerful that he can pick opponents from the mat and swing them around his head a couple of times before dropping them to the mat. He can hold the opponent suspended.

In another bout of note, Dr. Carl Furness of Mattoon, Ill., who learned the art of grappling at the University of Illinois under the tutelage of Paul Prehn, will tackle John Bodinet, the Polish light heavyweight, in a finish match. Nick Lutze and Toney Matches, heavyweights, will also clash.

John Myers, claimant of the middleweight championship, and Dr. Carl Furness, professor of the University of Illinois, yesterday were matched by Art Moore in a finish match at the Star and Garter Friday night. It will be a finish match and two in three falls.

A strong planetary ruling influences today. It is a time when affairs should be approached with a determination to win in spite of obstacles, whether your ambition be commercial, professional, artistic, or relating to the domestic and heart affairs of life.

Those whose birth date it is have a lucky birthday as far as the success of the year ahead is concerned. Much travel with benefit is forecast.

Children born on this day are likely to be more successful in undertakings, although a restless disposition may at times hinder progress.

You of this birthday are physically strong, or at least have much endurance. You love ease and comfort and hate hard work, but you will buckle down to it at times and accomplish no end of things. You are fond of music, art, and beauty, but are especially gifted. You always show much calculation and are apt to lay your plans well. You are courageous, and, when things are going against you, you show the world just exactly what you are made. It were well that you had responsibility put upon your shoulders fairly early in life, so that you may show the world just what you can accomplish. When emergency calls, you may be depended upon always.

Means He Cares.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 18 and went for some time with a man one year my senior. I have not spoken to him for several months and have seen him going with other girls, but still he sent me a lovely card for my birthday. Please, Miss Blake, would you tell me what he means by sending me a card? Does it mean he still cares for me?"

"Looks as if he is 'halting' for a word from you. He cares, surely. He would not send you a greeting if he didn't. Can't you spare him a kindly word?"

My aunt had been visiting us from the city and I had gone down to the depot to see her off, and while sitting in the coach our new druggist came in with a young girl who was a stranger to us. Curious to know who our friend was, I went over to her seat and was closely examining the name on the grips when she suddenly appeared.

Raglan Sleeve for Sport Shirt.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence)—Old Lord Raglan, the British peer whose stamp of an arm—most of it had been shot off in an argument at Waterloo—annoyed him so that he had a special sleeve built into his greatcoat, never knew what he started when he first gave directions to his tailor. The raglan sleeve is now found wherever shoulder coats and freedom of movement are desired.

A sport shirt is now offered on the market featuring the raglan sleeve, and its sponsors promise absolute freedom of swing to its wearers. It has a one seam sleeve, with the seam under the arm which does away with the yoke entirely. This allows what is called "pivot action," or the swinging of the arm in a circle without the slightest hindrance.

Golfers and tennis players will, of course, be the most interested in this shirt, since these two games are the ones that call for absolute freedom of arm and shoulder. However, even non-sportsmen may find that this shirt has advantages of movement and comfort, especially in the hot weather where anything that binds is sure to annoy.

But Virginia hams, Smithfield especially, have gone to Europe. The beginning of ham cooking is to know that there are hams and hams.

Then comes the peeling, garnishing and baking or not, but serious trouble begins when the ham is cut or carved. A drawing showing lines to follow is needed for this, but the way the high class butcher cuts his ham ought to suggest to more people than it does how to cut up a whole cooked ham. Our serving of ham is in general so poor that the consumer is in the meat of some of the high class ways.

Of ham, the great Escoffier says: "However deservedly pork may be praised, it could never have been included among the preparations of first class cookery, except subsidiarily, had it not been for the culinary value of hams. With the latter it triumphs, and the best hams of York or Paris or Western, no other joints enjoy more favor than these. Though it is somewhat difficult to decide which one of the various kinds of ham should be adopted, in my opinion that of Bohemia, known as Paraguine ham, is best for a warm dish, and that of York for a cold dish."

But Virginia hams, Smithfield especially, have gone to Europe. The beginning of ham cooking is to know that there are hams and hams.

It is all right to reply to a telephone call from the young man and tell him you will meet him downtown in order to save time when you want to get to the theater before the curtain rises. But this concession only after you have had him to your home.

O, and how often mother does forget she had a beau when she was young."

Thousands of girls jeopardize their reputations by accepting a man's invitation to meet him at such and such a place and such and such time instead of being encouraged to invite the man to call at their homes.

It is all right to reply to a telephone call from the young man and tell him you will meet him downtown in order to save time when you want to get to the theater before the curtain rises. But this concession only after you have had him to your home.

Be it ever so humble the home and its committee.

Miss Myrtle Vette Becomes Bride of Louis Charles Huck

Miss Myrtle Louise Vette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lyle Vette of 208 Forest avenue, Oak Park, wore a gown of rose point lace over flesh color chiffon, made in old fashioned hoop skirt style, last night when she became the bride of Louis Charles Huck son of Mrs. Louis H. Huck of Oak Park, formerly of Chicago. The tight bodice was low on the shoulders. She carried white orchids and valley lilies, and sprays of orange blossoms held in the tulip veil in place. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents, the Rev. Roy E. Vette officiating.

Miss Elizabeth Yager of Oak Park, the maid of honor, wore flame color chiffon and taffeta, and the bridesmaids, Miss Betty Borwell and Miss Anna Dixon, wore orchid lace and chiffon frocks. All were made in old fashioned style, with delicate lace and carried white bouquets. Little Mary Vette, the bride's sister, and her cousin, Myrtle Fahy, stretched the ribbons, wearing dainty green taffeta dresses.

The bride is a great granddaughter of the late Dr. Peter Fahy, and the bridegroom is a half-brother of the late Mrs. Baldwin Drummond, formerly Mrs. Marshall Field Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Huck will be at home after June 15 at 181 Linden avenue, Oak Park.

Note! Painter Guest Here.

GERMANS TO PAY U.S. CASH SEIZED BY CUSTODIAN

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT)

Washington, D. C., April 30.—[Special.]—Germany is prepared, through her representatives on the mixed claims commission, to admit that cash assets confiscated from American interests in Germany by the German alien property custodian during the war shall be repaid dollar for dollar, according to Dr. Kari von Kewinski, member of the German delegation.

The German government will insist on limiting such payment, however, to instances in which the cash assets in question actually were taken over by the alien property custodian. Where cash assets did not actually come into the control and jurisdiction of the alien property custodian, the German members of the claims commission will argue that it should be paid for at ordinary rates of exchange. In the first class of cases, payment would be made at the rate of exchange prevailing at the time of the seizure.

This decision is of vast importance to dozens of American claimants whose cases are now on file with the German commission. The amount involved, it is stated, runs into the millions, as practically all American firms doing business in Germany before the war had large deposits of cash in various German financial institutions.

Another class of claimants to which the Germans will probably object is the so-called war risk insurance cases, in which claimants seek to recover amounts paid for insurance on vessels above the normal insurance rate.

The claims for $25,000,000 filed by the United States with the mixed claims commission for compensation for the cost of maintaining the American army of occupation on the Rhine was instituted largely as a precautionary measure, it was said at the state department today.

This action by the American government, however, has no connection with the negotiations going on with representatives of the allied, state department officials said today.

DEFY U. S. LAW TO WIN, MOSCOW ORDER TO REDS

St. Joseph, Mich., April 30.—[By the Associated Press.]—The communist party of America never intended to abandon its illegal work in favor of the legal workers' party, but in fact had express orders from Moscow that the party must be "but an instrument" of the illegal group, according to evidence offered by the state today in the trial of Charles E. Ruthenberg.

O. J. Smith, assistant attorney general of Michigan, read to the jury a special order from Moscow signed by Bukharin, Radziek, and Kuusinen, of the central executive committee of the Third International, entitled, "Next Tasks of the Communist Party of America," which detailed the plans for carrying on in this country.

At one point Ruthenberg's committee voted:

"The illegal communist party must continue to exist and must continue to direct the whole communist work."

Public Approval

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stands before the public squarely on its merits as an organization of service.

In directing the affairs of this Company, the management is animated by ideals of justice, fairness and equity to employee, consumer, competitor, stockholder and the general public.

Because it insists that the rights of all should be safeguarded, the Company has prospered and has taken its place as a leader in an essential industry.

To achieve commercial success, profits are necessary. Profits can come only through liberal patronage of the buying public.

This public will not patronize an organization whose methods are unfair or unjust. Continued prosperity comes only to the Company which renders a superior service and sells honest merchandise at an honest price.

To every fair-minded observer it must be obvious that hundreds of thousands of people are patronizing the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and are doing so because they have found by experience that the service rendered by this Company is reliable and that the goods it sells are uniform and dependable, and that its prices are consistently fair.

Figures recently published by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce show that one-third of the automobile registrations are concentrated in the ten states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—yet, the price of gasoline in this territory compares favorably with that in any similar section in the world.

This low scale of prices is attributed to the efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

By its ever increasing patronage the public places the stamp of its approval upon the efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The acknowledged efficiency of this Company is due to the unflattering loyalty of its 27,000 employees; to the high ideals of service which the management has inaugurated and insists upon maintaining; to the unequalled facilities which this Company has provided for carrying on the business.

The loyalty of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) employee is based upon the knowledge that this Company recognizes the rights of the worker to steady employment at good wages; to a liberal annuity plan; to protection against accident, and to opportunity to invest in the Company's business on favorable terms.

Because of this efficiency, recognized and approved by the public, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is able to pay to the stockholders a fair return on the capital invested, and to build up a sufficient reserve to enable it to expand its business to keep pace with the public need.

GRAINS RALLY AFTER A SLUMP; TRADE IS ACTIVE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Pre-delivery day liquidation was on in the grain markets early and prices declined around 1¢ for wheat and 1½¢ for corn as compared with Saturday's finish. On the break there was active buying by shorts and commission houses and an advance of ¼ @ 7½¢ on wheat and 1½ @ 2¢ on corn from the inside figures followed. Trade was active and fluctuations rapid with the May deliveries showing the most weakness in wheat and corn. The finish was somewhat unsettled with wheat ½¢ lower, oats 1½¢ higher, corn 1½¢ higher, oats 1½¢ lower to ¾¢ higher, and rye 1½¢ lower.

Price estimates on the abandoned winter wheat acreage and the condition were decidedly bullish, but had little effect, although suggesting a yield of around $45,000,000 bu. or 41,000,000 bu less than harvested last year. The forecast for unsettled weather northward also ignored the main influencing factor in the market,即 May holdovers, and toward the last considerable selling was based on the bad break in the stock and market in the northwest.

Fit Element Oversold.

Many of the local element went short of wheat on the opening break and found the market oversold when they tried to cover. There was some buying of May and selling of July by commission houses, but the difference narrowed to around ½¢ at the last, the smallest difference of the season. Export demand was only fair.

An export condition was disclosed in corn.

Liquidation was on in May, but shorts were free buyers of corn and sold to July, changing over hedges. The pit element started to cover shorts and found that the surplus was oversold.

ARMOUR-MORRIS DEAL PROTESTED AT K. C. HEARING

The hearing resulted from a complaint, issued by Henry C. Wallace, secretary of the department of agriculture, charging the two companies with violation of the packers and stockyards act. Charles E. Collins, Carson, Colo., ranchman, asserted that the united companies would control 50 per cent of the live stock business and that the merged interests could delay purchases, thus stagnating the market.

Armour and company was represented here by F. Edison White, Chicago, president; Lester Armour, Chicago, vice president; C. J. Faulkner Jr., Chicago, chief counsel; James Sheean, Paul M. Godehn and R. F. Fergans, all of Chicago. Morris and company was represented by the American, Chicago, attorney for the company; M. W. Borders, Chicago, and Nelson Morris of Chicago, former chairman of the board of directors.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Sentiment of the professionals and commercial houses at the close was mixed on grain. A majority of the commission houses were moderately bullish. A few of the local traders were regarded as shorts, while those favoring higher prices said there had been break enough and that a further rally should come. Good buying of corn by local interests was the basis for a more confident feeling amongst holders generally.

For delivery of grains on May contracts are expected today. Wheat is estimated at 1,000,000 bu less than harvested last year, according to Burton Hungerford's "Grain Outlook." Oats, Quaker oats, is estimated at 45,000,000 bu against 31,000,000 bu harvested in 1923.

The New York Times.

New York, April 30.—(Special)—The week began today with declining prices in nearly all speculative markets. The downward movement on the stock exchange gained sufficient momentum in the later hours of business to carry numerous active shares 2 to 4 points below last week's closing. The very large selling toward the close was pretty plain proof that a conservative expectation for the decline was the dominant force. Presumably it was based on the principle that a deadlock, such as last week's in the stock market, will not be broken by the vigorous speculative movement for either higher or lower prices, and on the fact that recent concerted efforts to create activity on the rise had produced no tangible results.

Declines in the stock exchange were limited to the more speculative industrial stocks, most of which closed around the day's lowest of a considerable decline. There were, technically, no advances for the day in any corner of the market, and an unusually large proportion of the list made net declines of a point or more.

Foreign exchange also was more or less静止, with no striking movement, however, except in the German mark, of which the price at one time fell to 51% the strength of a cent, fractionally under the previous record reached in the "mark panic" of a fortnight ago. It was quickly bid up again to 52%, however, apparently showing the Reichsbank's activities around a new "pegged" price.

Excursion Bar-Ships

Washington, D. C., May 1.—That American ships may run excursions outside the three mile limit to obtain their liquor stocks there and maintain floating barrooms until they are ready to return to port appears to have been sanctioned by the United States Supreme court ruling on rum traffic on the high seas. On the face of the decision, some officials believe there would be no way of checking such a practice.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX. Washington, D. C., May 1.—Attorney General Daugherty announced tonight that every agency in command would be used to see the law against liquor on all vessels is enforced. The interpretation yesterday by the Supreme court, "without favor or malice or discrimination."

Enforcement of the law, the attorney general said, would begin at noon on the expiration of the thirty day period the mandate of the Supreme court becomes effective.

The attorney general's announcement, which followed a long discussion in the cabinet today of international implications involved, means that the government is preparing to descend on American ports of all foreign countries carrying liquors, sealed or unsealed, despite laws of other nations which require the carrying of license for specified purposes.

Says Decision Is a Relief. "It is," said the attorney general, "a matter of gratification to the government, faced with the perplexing problems arising from the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, the national prohibition act, the congressional extension of the national prohibition act, and the effect of these laws on prior existing laws regulating and relating to customs and the importation of commodities into the country, that the Supreme court so carefully and clearly decided the contested questions."

"This is a law enforcing branch of the government, and every agency in command will be used to enforce the law without favor, partiality or discrimination."

Upholds His Own Ruling. "In the interpretation I made of the national prohibition act and the eighteenth amendment, I held that foreign and American ships alike might bring intoxicating liquors into stores under seal or in any form within the three mile limit of shores and ships flying the American flag had no right to sell it on the high seas."

Judge Hand for the northern circuit of New York upheld that opinion and the Supreme court has now given the final stamp of approval upon it except only the right of American ships to carry and sell liquor on the high seas and in foreign ports even as to that the Supreme court stated that congress may prohibit if so desired.

Glad Uncertainty Is Removed. "I am glad that the doubt caused by some people in this country has now been put at rest, and it is clearly understood to be the law that no intoxicating liquors may be brought within three miles of shores, whether by any ship flying the American flag or not, whether they do or do not engage in ship stores or otherwise shall see that such law is vigorously enforced as far as I have the authority to do so, which is ample."

Will Ask Congress Aid. The President and cabinet make clear, realize the dangerous complications involved in court ruling and government's duty to enforce the law, but are not the law may be changed. The administration considers going to congress for relief not connected to the foreign situation to make it possible to ships flying the American flag carrying or selling liquor.

In some quarters there was action that the President might call a special session of congress to consider the legislation.
